12:15 – 13:45 Rule of Law or Rule of Technology: Is the Rule of Law out of date in the digital era?

The accelerating development of new technologies may put in question values and principles stemming from the Rule of Law idea which may seem unsuitable or even outdated in a new digital era. This is why, together with tech corporations' representatives, government agents and lawyers specialising in new tech from Europe, we are eager to discuss with You, legal professionals, what effect the technological progress has on the role of lawyers, their services, and deontological standards. What are the chances and risks of A.I. for the legal practice? Should the Rule of Law be perhaps replaced by a new concept due to new tech revolution?
